

Health

Volunteers provide essential healthcare services for communities that lack basic infrastructure and personnel for adequate community health.